

Security Speed Debates

#rvasec #speeddebates

A photograph of a group of men in suits sitting at a panel. The men are looking towards the left side of the frame. The image has a slightly grainy, vintage quality. A teal banner with white text is in the top left corner. A dark grey banner with white text is at the bottom.

Meet the panel!

Judging methodology

Conducting tests against live systems is an acceptable way to create the necessary urgency for manufacturers to build more secure products

Raising awareness of vulnerabilities via logos, branding, and PR campaigns is ultimately beneficial to the security posture of a typical enterprise

The new Wassenaar provisions surrounding the regulation of “intrusion software” will irreparably stunt progress in security research

Companies with a preference for hiring “industry-certified” security practitioners will be better off in the long run than those that don’t
